The HUNT BREAKFAST

States. She is about to go to Manila on a mission similar to the one described in her article.

MARGUERITA RUDOLPH is a writer and educator, at present Director of the Great Neck (New York) Community School. She has written two books and many children's stories, which have appeared in magazines and anthologies. Her most recent book is You Can Learn Russian (Little). She is working, as compiler and translator, on an anthology of Soviet children's literature.

FRANCES CLARKE SAYERS was Head of Work with Children in the New York Public Library from Anne Carroll Moore's retirement in 1941 until 1953. For the past ten years she has been teaching children's literature and courses related to library work with children at the University of California at Los Angeles. She is author of several much-loved children's books: Bluebonnets for Lucinda, Tag-along Tooloo, Mr. Tidy Paws, Sally Tait, and Ginny and Custard (all Viking).

EDITH F. HUNTER is the mother of four children and the author of The Family Finds Out, The Questioning Child and Religion, and Conversations with Children (all Beacon Press) and Child of the Silent Night (Houghton). The children are now two years older than they are in her article. See the Hunt Breakfast for June 1962 for another article by her and for additional biographical material.

RUTH SAWYER's contributions to storytelling and the joys of Christmas cannot be overestimated — from the publication of This Way to Christmas (Harper) in 1916 to "The Precious Herbs of Christmas," published in the December 1963 Horn Book. Her The Long Christmas (Viking) probably contains more distinguished Christmas stories by one person than any other volume. A story that has been read and told again and again, and frequently produced as a pageant, is reprinted in this issue.

Tales of wonder and fantasy

A group of merchants, crossing the Arabian Desert, rest in the heat of the day and regale one another with bewitching and humorous stories. Written by a contemporary of the brothers Grimm, these imaginative tales have now been rescued from an undeserved obscurity. All ages $4.50
